TAX PAYERS IN FAVOR OF RE- MAINING UN-INCORPORATED SPEAK.

On next Tuesday the 7th of October the people of Hondo will vote on whether or not we shall change from the village system of community life, under which the community has grown from a wide-open place on the prairie to a populous community of law-abiding, contented people, to that of an incorporated town, with a city government, municipal officers and city taxes.

NOT ALL CHANGE IS PRO- GRESS.

And before a people change a system under which they have prospered and are reasonably contented and embark upon a new community experiment, there are two questions which every one should consider thoroughly and answer intelligently:

First, is the change absolutely needed?

And—

Second, will the things sought to be gained be worth the cost if gained?

Let us first ask ourselves what, if any, is the emergency confronting us that would prompt this proposed change at this time?

Does the dissatisfaction with present water rates create an emergency that would justify the issuing of municipal bonds and handing a debt over the community for years to come to install another water system where there is already one ample to supply the needs?

What assurance has any one to offer that a municipal-owned water system can or will furnish water any cheaper, if as cheap, as the company owning the present system?

Gin statistics as compiled by Mr.
John P. Lippold shows an increase for this year over last year of over a hundred per cent. Prior to September 16, there had been ginned 2,212 bales as compared with 1,017 bales up to a like period last year. The cotton crop is practically gathered in the county and is far short of a full crop.

tard the proper development and down incorporation.
maintenance of an adequate water system of any kind for years?

Why rush into such a contingency without first giving the present owners an opportunity to adjust water rates to an equitable basis; or, in the event of their failure or refusal to do so, why not first resort to the courts for legal adjudication of our complaints as provided by law?

Before letting a spirit of resentment at a little over-charge in water rents cause us to vote incorporation upon ourselves, let us remember that we have no assurance of getting water any cheaper.

Let us remember that when we vote incorporation upon ourselves we vote into the hands of those who will run the corporation the power to tax; let us rather invite thrifty forward-looking people to enjoy with us the good things we now have with kind of schemes the corporation management might see fit to embark upon.

We empower them to fix the valuation of our property at such figures as will compel us to pay such a sum as they may need for their administration of the municipality's affairs; in other words, our assessments may be raised for municipal purposes far above that assessed by the county and the state at the present or any other time.

And in the event of our inability to pay, our property can be seized by the corporation and sold for its taxes.

If we are going to vote incorporation upon ourselves let us do so with a clear understanding of what we are doing and what we can reasonably expect as a consequence of our act.

It is evasion to argue taxes will not or need not be burdensome under the municipality.

We know that most, if not all, of our present taxes, from special school tax to state taxes, are at the constitutional limit and there is a constant scramble for new sources of revenue.

Unless we are willing and ready for our municipal taxes to reach extremely costly to the town and relief incorporation. The present time, especially with the scarcity of money and the low price of farm and ranch products, our only productive sources of revenue, is not the proper time to burden ourselves with more taxes.

Every one who is a qualified voter under the laws of the state is entitled to vote in this election and it is your duty to do so with a full understanding that, first of all, you are voting another tax on yourself.

After this tax is once authorized it must be paid; there can be no evading or escaping it no matter what your earning capacity may be.

If Hondo would continue to grow let us not add to the burden of living the handicap of useless municipal levy taxes upon us to the limit, not only for water but for any number and kind of schemes the corporation might see fit to embark upon.

Not all change is progress; vote to remain unincorporated.

EDDIE CARLYLE CAMERON.

Following closely on the death of his mother, the late Mrs. M. C. Cameron, Mr. Ed Cameron quietly passed away Tuesday afternoon, September 30, 1930, at the Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio. The deceased had been ill for about two weeks when, following a serious operation for ulcerated stomach, double pneumonia set in, causing complications which resulted in his demise.

Mr. Cameron was born near Austin, Texas, November 10, 1884, and at the time of his death was 45 years, 10 months and 21 days of age. He, with his twin brother, Emmett, was one of the youngest of ten children. He spent his early years in Travis County and in 1902 moved with his parents to Hondo, where he spent the greater part of his life. He was married in 1906 to Miss Caroline Wood of Enid, Oklahoma.

The mortal remains were laid to rest Wednesday afternoon in the St. John's Cemetery, Rev. M. Williamson, pastor of the Methodist Church, performing the last sad rites at the home and the grave. The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Caroline Cameron, two sons, Wood and Bobby, one daughter, Bonny Jack, one grandchild, little Bonny Evelyn Cameron, two sisters, and four brothers, besides a number of other relatives.

Mr. Cameron was an inventor of some genius, and a versatile man who will be missed by the many friends who held him in high esteem. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones in the time of their sorrow.

DIED.

Mrs. Marguerite C. Cameron, an aged resident, died Sunday night, following the shock of the serious illness of her son, the late Mr. Ed Cameron. She had been in delicate health for several years and the strain was too great for her weakened condition.

The deceased was born April 13, 1848, in Tennessee and had attained the great age of 82 years, 5 months and 5 days at the time of her death. She was a granddaughter of Rev. Isaac Potts, Chaplain of George Washington's army. Mrs. Cameron had a true mother heart, rearing ten children of her own and three orphans. Her husband, the late H. L. Cameron, and three children preceded her in death, and one son, Mr. Ed. Cameron, followed two days later. She is survived by four sons and two daughters, 26 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The remains of the deceased were laid to rest Tuesday afternoon in the Engleside Cemetery, by the side of her late husband, with Rev. M. Williamson, pastor of the local Methodist Church officiating at the home and at the grave. Many friends extend to the grief stricken ones sympathy and consolation in their time of bereavement. May she rest in peace.

HONDO DEFEATS FLORESVILLE Hondo five before the game ended 20 TO 0 IN NEAT GAME.

Established weekly—Every Friday—by THE FLETCHER DAVIS PUBLICATIONS.

ANNE DAVIS, Editor.
MRS. ROBERTA DAVIS,
Assistant Editor.
FLETCHER DAVIS,
Managing Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Hondo, Texas, as second-class matter.

HONDO, TEXAS, OCTOBER 3, 1930

JOLLYING THE EDITORS

A new editor is in the field here in South Texas, namely, Miss Anne Davis, and her particular journal is the Hondo Anvil Herald. Sort of a story about Anne and the Anvil Herald.

The Anvil Herald "raised" Anne, and now, most likely, she is laying plans to raise the Anvil Herald. (That's a habit of new editors, etc., take up the old institution, shake it by the ears and raise it a few notches higher.)

Miss Anne's Old Man, Fletcher Davis, has run that paper there in Hondo for 30 years. Went there in the bloom of youth and now he is middle-aged and ought to be retiring. Instead of retiring, why he has promoted himself to managing editor.

But he never gives another order as that paper—he'll be the "managed editor," rather than managing editor.

The Anvil Herald has the same old assistant editor, namely, Roberta Davis. While Anne was away in college, grabbing off an A. B. degree there at the Lady of the Lake, which she did majoring in English, why, Roberta and Fletcher, they stayed on the job there with the Anvil Herald, declared dividends, and made the check payable to Anne.

Let's hope Anne takes to editing with a right good will. Not many places where an eager young person can do as much good and get as little credit for it as that.—Texas Cattle Trails by Harry Williams in San Antonio Light.

Several newspaper men who have been in harness a long time are passing on part of the work to the younger generation. Fletcher Davis, veteran of the Hondo Anvil-Herald, has made his talented daughter assistant editor and Editor Hunter of Bandera has turned over the editing of the Bandera New Era to his son, Marq Hunter, Jr., a most capable newspaper man. Some months ago the editor of the Leader-News made R. G. Jordan assistant editor, and advertising solicitor. Mr. Jordan has been with the Leader-News for eight years as linotype and he learned the trade with the Sabinal Sentinel under Harold Baldwin. Mr. Jordan has given much study to the writing of news and has been appointed correspondent by a number of daily papers. Youth and energy are great assets in the newspaper business as in other lines of work.—Uvalde Leader-News.

PROMOTION.

Some publishers import editors, or hire the native product, while others raise 'em at home. Fletcher Davis, shogun of the Hondo Anvil Herald, believes in raising them. That is why his daughter, Miss Anne, has succeeded him in the editorship. She scrounged him out because of being better fitted for the position. Her temper is sweet, and it takes a sweet-tempered editor to avail long and prosperously. Her papa, being relieved of the heavier responsibility, will now have nothing to do but work.—Dallas News.

TEMPORARY OR PERMANENT RELIEF?

By I. B. Alford

We are not glad that business is "pinched" by the present low morale of the cotton market. But we do find some consolation in the fact that the "pinch" is causing the public mind to become awakened to the real dangers now existing because of the present low price of cotton. And now that the public mind has recognized and conceded that a real farm problem does indeed exist because of unsatisfactory prices of our staple money crop—cotton—and, headed by the Governor, is pressing upon the people the urgent necessity for immediate and drastic measures for relief, may we not hope that the aforementioned public may yet come to see that the real cause of existing conditions is due to the long-standing unfair and uneconomic methods of price fixing of cotton and grain. The plan as suggested by Governor Moody, if carried out successfully, will, we believe, afford a measure of immediate relief. But such a plan can, and will, be only temporary. So long as the price of cotton is fixed by guessing at imaginary surpluses that have the habit of failing to materialize, and by gambling in futures on which delivery is not even intended to be made, these distressed conditions, so demoralizing and destructive to the national welfare, will continue periodically to recur. When the business public is ready to take action demanding the cessation of the present anarchistic orgy of gambling which is responsible for the instability of our markets, and concedes the right of producers to sit in on the conferences that announce the price of our staple farm products they will be rendering an assistance worth while. It is commendable in any one who renders assistance in the removal of foul material from a stream before it becomes putrid, but it is infinitely better to take necessary steps looking to the prevention of the accumulation of foul material in the stream. A permanent cure will surpass temporary relief.

From The Owl.

Playing against a stronger team, the Hondo Owls showed up real well last Friday and defeated Floresville 20 to 0 on the local high school field for their second win of the season. The Owls were fighting all the way and for a few bad breaks would have had two more touchdowns. Leinweber made three times as much yardage as he ever made before. But the feature that stood out was the perfect manner in which the interference was working. The boys were getting their assigned men and thus the backs were able to make neat gains.

From the appearance of the ball toters Friday Hondo has the best backfield in the district. There is no chance of Don Windrow being matched for speed and all-round field work. Haegelin and Finger are two fast, crafty half backs. Finger doing good work at the quarter back position while relieving Windrow. Leinweber is getting low and plunging hard this season and stands a chance of proving a good match for McGinnis before the year is over. B. C. Rucker, lanky end, seems to be finding himself and was working hard in the Floresville game, with the result that the visitors suffered plenty of misery from him. A little polishing on the defense and Hondo will turn out an all-district end. B. C. scored a touchdown, blocked a punt, gave good interference and made himself generally useful in the game last Friday.

The running account of the game gives:

First Quarter

Floresville chose to defend the north goal with Hondo receiving. A strong north wind was blowing. Windrow returned the kickoff from the 30-yard line to the 40-yard marker.

Hondo made three first downs on a march into Floresville territory, but lost the ball on downs on the 19-yard line. Karbell kicked out of bounds on Hondo's 44-yard line. Windrow went around end for 8 yards and Leinweber hit the line for first down.

Windrow got loose around left end and went 20 yards before being nabbed by Floresville's safety man. After three plays, Don, aided by neat interference, circled left end for touchdown. Windrow place kicked goal. Score, Hondo 7; Somerset 0.

Finger returned the kickoff 15 yards to place the ball on Hondo's 35-yard line. The Owls made two first downs to put the ball on Floresville's 40-yard line before the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Windrow cut back over right tackle for 19 yards and first down, but two passes failed and the ball went over. Floresville rallied and made two first downs before being forced to punt. Thortman kicked high and the wind carried the ball back for an 8-yard loss. Windrow circled left end for 25 yards, again he was aided by neat interference. Leinweber hit the line twice for 8 yards, Windrow sneaked through center for first down, then Haegelin went through center with half of the Floresville squad hanging on him for touchdown. Windrow's place kick was good. Score, Hondo 14; Floresville 0.

Floresville returned the kickoff 18 yards and made a first down before being forced to punt. Finger grabbed the kick on his 40-yard line and by neat running brought the ball back 27 yards. Finger made a beautiful punt, kicking the ball out on Floresville's 25-yard line, as the half ended.

Third Quarter

Floresville returned the kickoff 12 yards to place the ball on their 32-yard line. The visitors opened up with a series of passes and end runs that netted three first downs before they were stopped on Hondo's 18-yard marker. Windrow went around right end for 32 yards, then kicked over Floresville's goal line. The visitors failed to gain and kicked to the 42-yard line, a Floresville player touched the ball and walked away, but as the referee never blew his whistle Don grabbed the pigskin and made 6 yards before he was downed. End runs and line backs gave the Owls two first downs and placed the ball 5 yards from the goal before the quarter was up.

Fourth Quarter

Hondo made first down and had one yard to go for touchdown but fumbled and Floresville recovered.

The Owls took Floresville's punt on the 32-yard line and marched to the 1-yard line again only to lose the ball on downs. B. C. Rucker raced in on Karbell and blocked his punt with Droitcourt recovering for Hondo on the 4-yard line. Windrow passed to B.

C. Rucker, who pulled three Floresville youths over the line to score touchdown. Pass back from center was fumbled and Windrow smothered before he could make any headway. Score, Hondo 20; Floresville 0.

Floresville made a first down and were dropped with the ball on Floresville's 8-yard line.

Hondo's starting line-up was: B. C. Rucker and Stanley, end; Pichot and Mechler, tackles; Rothe and Mask, guards; Droitcourt, center; Windrow, quarter; Haegelin and Finger, halves; Leinweber, full back.

Score by quarters: 1 2 3 4—

Hondo ..... 7 0 6 — 20

From The Owl.

Friday, October 3, Peacock Military Academy and the Hondo Owls will meet on the Fair Grounds field at 3:30 in what will be the best non-conference football game to be played here this season. The Pea Fowls, as the visitors are known, come here determined to win and are a strong combination.

Last Friday the Pea Fowls were defeated by Uvalde 21 to 12. As Uvalde is rated the strongest team in the district and picked to win by most sport followers, the game Friday will furnish a good opportunity to compare the strength of Hondo and Uvalde. The Peacock team uses the B formation made famous by Pop Warner.

The Owls are picked to win 20 to 6. Hondo has not been scored on this season but the formation that Peacock used, new to the Owls, will net them one touchdown. Hondo and Uvalde are the same on defense. The Cadets earned one touchdown and scored the other on an 80-yard return of a kick against Uvalde last week.

The fleet Hondo backs can nab any Cadet before he gets that far. Offensively the Owls have never been forced to open up this year. Should the end runs and straight forward pass attack fail to pierce the Pea Fowl's defense, the Owls can resort to their bag of tricks for the points to win.

The game will positively be played at the Fair Grounds. And it is hoped that the attendance will increase. Should the crowd at this game be of the same size as on the previous two games played by the Owls, Hondo will be forced to play the remainder of its games away from home to make expenses.

Hondo has the strongest team and the best chance of winning the title this year that it has had for several years. And the fans refuse to attend the games. Can it be that the supporters are suffering from over confidence? Do they feel that Hondo has set-ups; teams that can not possibly win?

The boys need the help of everybody on the sidelines and the more there are on the sidelines the better chance they will have of winning. For when there is a large crowd cheering, the team knows that they are wanted to win and will fight harder. And a spirit of fight is all that Hondo needs to win every game this year. A spirit of fight will give Hondo a regional championship team.

If Hondo defeats Peacock by the same score as Uvalde, are the fans going to stay away next Friday when Uvalde comes here? Will they say, "Oh, Hondo will win, at the worst it will only be a tie" and leave the boys to go out against their strongest opponents with no support from the side?

When Peacocks and Owls meet the feathers will fly, so come on out and help the boys win and enjoy a great game.

OWLS ROMP ON SOMERSET 63-0

From The Owl.

In what turned out to be not even a good game for the second string the Hondo Owls swamped Somerset 63 to 0 on the high school field Saturday, September 20. The first match of the season found the Owls pitted against a squad that was unable to furnish good practice. On the fifth play of the game Windrow scooped up a punt on the 39-yard line and ran for touchdown.

Practically every member of the Owl squad got into action and all showed up about the same against the Bulldogs. The scoring for the Owls was divided between nearly all the backs. The outstanding weakness of the Hondo team was at end. The pass receivers were sadly off form Saturday and missed numerous tosses, dropping several passes after they were in their hands.

By Betty Barclay.

The hotter the day the more delicious does a cold dish taste—be it sponge, salad, fruit punch or ice cream. Here are two particularly timely recipes that you will find very easy to follow, and the results very delicious:

Pineapple Orange Sponge

1 package orange flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup pineapple juice and cold water

1 cup shredded pineapple, drained
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add pineapple juice and cold water.

Chill. When slightly thickened, beat the rotary egg beater until of consistency of whipped cream. Fold in pineapples. Turn into molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 8.

Cucumber Salad Relish

(Salad or relish)

1 package lemon flavored gelatin

1 cup boiling water

1/2 cup cold water

1/2 cup mild vinegar

1/2 teaspoon salt

FARM RELIEF STILL TO BE SOLVED.

By Harry L. Sexton.

Two distinct schools of thought have been created as a result of the widespread agitation for farm relief, and it is not improbable that in the next congress the proper modus operandi for relieving the farmer of his financial difficulties will be a more acute problem than ever before.

The Federal Farm Board, created by act of congress last year and supplied with half a billion dollars wherewith to finance its operations, is approaching the difficult problem of farm relief by assisting in the organization of co-operatives. This function of the Board appears to meet general approval except from certain interests which are not in harmony with a co-operative program. But the doctrine of crop reduction in order to limit production to domestic demands has aroused a storm of protest from all quarters and especially in those sections where production of the principal export crops—cotton and wheat—is heavy.

Severe criticism of this program is emanating from industrial sections and reflects the fear of abnormal food prices. From the economists' general protest has gone up, their position being based upon the sound that elimination of our large surpluses of agricultural products, which go into the foreign markets, would turn the trade balance against this country with resultant financial loss to all industries.

The Farm Board indicates that it is primarily interested in aiding agriculture to regain at least a semblance of prosperity, and that the Board is particularly interested in the condition of industry, agricultural exports or national finances other than agriculture may be affected. Their conception of the proper short cut to prosperity is to reduce production to the level of domestic demand and to permit the law of economics to take its course.

In view of the defeat of the export venture plan, it is obvious the program of the Farm Board is based on sound logic from the purely agricultural point of view. Inasmuch as growers of staple crops are compelled to buy all commodities in a highly protected market and under present conditions are compelled to sell their products at world prices, it appears that as a class they would benefit by reducing their production, rough organization and control of production they can attain the same economic advantages which are now special prerogatives of those organized interests which are granted, reason of excessive tariff rates, privilege to exploit American consumers. Under this program agriculture would not add to the wealth of the nation through exports to foreign markets, and it is extremely doubtful if it would be possible to effect an organization of farmers so that this status could be maintained any length of time.

The proposed function of the export debenture, which was stricken from the tariff bill, was to permit healthy and normal development of agriculture without penalizing the farmers for producing a surplus which would find its way into the channels of world trade. Proponents of the debenture contended that the cost of extending the protective tariff to cover agricultural surpluses would be negligible in comparison with the wealth these surpluses bring to the nation. Elimination of these surpluses would reduce our export approximately 30 per cent, and would create a condition whereby the balance would be against the United States. The trade balance in favor of the United States in 1929 was $90,278,000. The value of cotton exports was $968,000,000, and exports of grains and grain products aggregated $335,000,000; these two commodities alone bringing to this country $1,103,000,000 and maintaining the trade balance in our favor.

Economists view with considerable alarm the doctrine of crop reduction and the consequent decrease in national exports, and this fact is causing to create widespread interest in the export debenture plan, which would assure profitable domestic markets for staple products and maintain the present movement of us production to foreign markets. They contend that unless this is provided the United States gradually decline as a competitor in world trade and that the reaction affect agriculture as well as industry.

It is believed that the next session Congress will be confronted with a problem and that its solution will be more difficult than that of any session with which Congress has been in recent years. It is generally agreed that the tariff measure will be ineffective so far as relieving agriculture is concerned, and this is expected to augment the demand for export debenture and a policy will permit development of the nation's agricultural resources upon a suitable basis.

MORE FOR YOUR MONEY.

The dollar which the American citizen earned in 1926, if he still has it, will purchase 15 more goods now than then, while it will purchase 14 cents more than the dollar earned a year ago, according to the Department of Labor's Bureau of Statistics. In other words it takes 15¢ more of labor or labor's products to earn your dollar, when you get it it pays no taxes or interest!

Messrs. Henry Vonfie and Jos Echtle were Hondo business visitors Monday.

J. F. Bader of Hondo was mingling with his many friends here Monday.

FARMS TO KEEP MORE PROFITS

J. A. Moore Says Less To Be Paid Out for Debt and Living Cost.

Despite the decline in the prices of certain staple crops of Texas, farmers of this State are going to find themselves in better shape after harvest than they have been in many years. This is the prediction of J. A. Moore, superintendent of agriculture at the State Fair of Texas, who has recently completed a tour of sections of the State.

"Farmers are going to get less money for their crops," Mr. Moore said, "but, taking the State as a whole, farmers are going to gather good crops, and when they have made their harvest, sold their crops, they are going to find that they don't owe all of the money that they have secured. The bankers have not loaned as much money as usual on the crops of this State."

Prices Are Lower
Cotton in South Texas is in good shape. The early vegetable crops have been normal and above. Fruits and tomatoes of East Texas are above par. However, there is hardly one of these commodities where the price is on a level with that of last year and the year before.

"Agriculture in 1930, with all of the low prices," Mr. Moore said, "is on a safer basis than at any time during the last fifteen years. The program of the average farm is on a much more constructive basis. The farmer is thinking in more intelligent terms. He is raising more food for his family and more feed for his livestock. He is growing more varieties of food and feed—palatable and wholesome for both his family and his stock.

"There is less speculation on the farm this year in Texas than I remember ever seeing. The farmer has his money crop, but at the same time, if this fails, he has food for his family and feed for his livestock.

"Farmers as a whole in Texas will sell their farm products at a profit.

THE FIRST CORN HARVEST OF 1930

Down in South Texas, the corn is ripe. South Texas farmers are flocking to fields where a new machine, a corn combine, is working. It cuts the stalks, shells the ears and cleans the grain, all in one operation, at a cost of about 3 cents a bushel, a saving of from 8 cents to 12 cents a bushel.

CORN HARVEST STARTED.
The first Corn Harvest of 1930 in the United States was completed last week on the farm of Henry W. Keller, near LaCoste, Texas, eighteen miles west of San Antonio.

Mr. Keller's corn made 42 bushels to the acre and the quality was excellent. It was cut, shelled and cleaned in the field in a single operation with a new machine, a Corn Combine, at an average cost of about 3 cents a bushel, a saving of from 8 to 12 cents a bushel over any other known method of gathering corn.

Clean shelled corn was delivered from the Corn Combine to the grain trucks, just as clean threshed wheat is delivered from a wheat combine all over the wheat areas of the world.

The Corn Combine moved through Mr. Keller's field at the rate of 2½ miles an hour, cutting two rows at a time and despite the fact that it was delayed repeatedly by crowds of farmers who wanted to see "how it worked" the machine averaged nearly twenty acres a day.

Farmers who witnessed the performance of the machine, which is a product of the Gleaner Combine Harvester Corporation of Independence, Mo., said they believed it would solve the corn grower's harvest problem, just like the wheat combine has added so much to the profits of the wheat farmer, by reducing his harvest cost.

It was the first demonstration of the machine under normal field conditions. Gleaner executives, who were present, said they were satisfied with the performance and would offer the machine to corn farmers everywhere.

They will do this because they have produced their crops this year more economically. The agricultural situation in Texas is settling down to a question of a comfortable, safe living on the farm. When they get this, then the farmer is ready to branch out into his money crop.

More Pay Days

"The farmer has finally realized that it is not economically sound to work all the year and to have but one pay day each year. They are working to the end of creating more pay days and, with more poultry, more dairy products and other salable farm items, they can increase the pay days from one to fifty-two each year. Farmers in every section of the State are doing this very thing this year.

PARKING RULES.

Sheriff Scheuhle reported to the Lions Club that the State Highway Patrol has decided to help the traffic and parking situation in Hondo by putting the following regulations into effect on the highway in the block between the Chevrolet garage and the Richter hotel:

1. No parking will be allowed on the north side of the street.

2. Parking at an angle of 45 degrees will be permitted on the south side of the street, but all cars must be parked in the same way, namely along the white lines marked on the pavement, and not across those lines. Cars must not turn around in the middle of the block, nor cross over.

Cars coming from the east, desiring to park in that block, must continue to the next street intersection, make a U turn, come back from the west and park as stated above.

Two patrolmen will be on hand for some time, until the people have been trained to observe these simple rules for the safety and convenience of all. Let us all give these men, who wait to be our servants, our full co-operation. They will be kind and considerate in fulfilling their duty. Only repeated and wilful violations of these rules will be dealt with according to the power at their command.

RHEUMATISM.

Thousands who have suffered with Rheumatism are being relieved by Alonzo Urban Rheumatism Treatment and are glad to testify to its merits. Here is what Jacob Johane of Manitowoc, Wis. says—I want to thank you for the wonderful results received from your treatment. From the very beginning I felt relief and the pains in my legs are entirely gone and I can now sleep in peace. Thousands of other letters like this have been received. A UNIQUE PARTY.

Mrs. M. S. Koch was treated to a unique party on Tuesday of last week. A number of her lady friends, like most parties, the ladies came in the forenoon and stayed all day. Each one brought her own cards of the kind usually taken to a bridge party, but plain, old-fashioned wool and cotton cards that require elbow grease and strength to play.

Together they went to "playing" by night two woollen and one cotton mattresses had been carded and remade.

Among those present were: Messrs. J. M. Koch, E. Mueller, Charles Hubbard, Louis Garteiser, Willie Ney, Ed Koch and daughter, Miss Marie, John Rieber, Rieber, F. Klemmer, Lena Lang, Christine Rudinger, Alfred Meyer, Nick Fohn, Wm. Turner, Harry Franger and Bert Simpson all of Hondo; and Mesdames Toby, J. S. Koch, Robert Koch, Leo St. Charles Filleman and Wm. McConnell of Hondo.

The afternoon coffee and cake served by Mrs. J. H. Moore of Antonio and Misses Clara Koch.

Interesting feature of the Mat-Party is the fact that the wool in the two mattresses was grown by Mr. Koch in 1883 on his own land in Val Verde County. It was sheared from the sheep and has been in constant use since.

New Medicine Proves Real Boon to San Antonio Housewife—Earns Eager Praise.

MRS. T. G. MOORE.

"Three years ago I began having trouble with my liver," said Mrs. T. G. Moore, 314 Mission street, San Antonio. "I was sluggish, my complexion was bad and I had dark blotches on my face. I was troubled with constipation and forced to use laxatives and purges almost daily. These conditions made me very nervous and I did not sleep well. I felt thoroughly down and out."

"My husband and I decided to give Konjola a trial. After trying this medicine out for a few days I found it different than anything I had ever tried before. Now, after taking Konjola for a month, I am feeling better than I have for a long time and am more than pleased with the results it has brought. It has done more for me than all else I tried and I am glad to endorse it."

Although Konjola does work quickly, it is best to take this medicine over a six to eight week period in the average case. Its record has made Konjola a household word in thousands upon thousands of American homes.

Konjola is sold in Hondo, Texas, at W. H. Windrow's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

TO SELECT MISS HONDO.

Following are the rules and regulations for the selection of Miss Hondo and two maids.

Any young lady living in North Hondo, Precinct No. 1, or South Hondo, Precinct No. 16, is eligible.

Said young ladies must be 17 or more years old.

No girl who has served as Miss Hondo is eligible to enter contest.

No girl who has served as a maid to Miss Hondo is eligible as a maid, but is eligible to be Miss Hondo.

Girls working or going to school in other cities, but having parents living in the above precincts are eligible to enter.

Voting will take place Saturday October 11, at the Chamber of Commerce Hall between the hours of 8 A. M. and 9 P. M. Each person is entitled to one vote. Voting to be free of charge. Voters must be seventeen or more years of age.

The young lady receiving the highest number of votes will receive the title of Miss Hondo and the two young ladies receiving the next highest number of votes will receive the honor of maids.

The three young ladies will ride on the Hondo float in the Medina County Fair parade and participate in the coronation of Miss Bernice Wurzbach as Queen of the Medina County Fair.

AM I FAT?—NOT ME.

Yes! A year ago I had twenty-two more pounds of fat than I needed—I was fat—and very sensitive about it—but now I say it is foolish for anyone to be overweight.

What did I do? Nothing very hard, I can assure you—I cut out pies—candy and all sweets—ate moderately and every morning before breakfast I took one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water—Never missed a morning.

I lost fat—gained in energy—vigor—charm—and vivaciousness and have a shapely figure I am proud of—anyone can do the same.

CAMPBELL TO STAGE RACES AT PEARSALL FAIR.

W. "Wild Bill" Campbell, winner of the Class A. event in the Laredo-Monterey race recently run from Laredo to Monterey on the new International Highway, will stage the auto racing program at the Winter Garden Fair, Pearsall, starting Wednesday, October 8. Races will be run each day at 2 P. M. by professional automobile drivers. The track at Pearsall has some sharp curves and the fair officials expect to see some spills when the fast cars open up. Saturday, October 11, the Winter Garden Sweepstakes will be run of 50 laps for the State Champion ship on a half-mile dirt track.

Miss Katherine Teel, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Teel of Devine, has been named queen of the fair, and the coronation of the Queen and the Queen's Ball will easily be the outstanding social event of the year, according to R. T. Barnhart of Pearsall, president of the association. "We have invited every town in this section to send three of their most charming daughters to participate in this event," says Mr. Barnhart. Last year more than 150 young folks composed the queen's court. Those selected to represent our city this year are: Misses Irene Scheweers, princess, Misses Mary Lois Barnes and Thelma Wilson, duchesses.

"A free ride on the hobby horse," says Don M. Sanders, manager of the fair, "to every school child entering our school children's parade Wednesday, October 8, at 10 A. M." Furthermore, Mr. Sanders promises to let every child into the fair grounds free on the first day, Wednesday. Then he has arranged a free fire works program for the 2nd night of the fair, Thursday, October 9. Roping, riding and a rodeo will be staged each day at 9:30 A. M.; and Old Time Square dance will be enjoyed Wednesday night—dancing all four nights on the big hardwood dance floor; the Royal Gray Shows with five big rides and five big shows; community exhibits; school exhibits; farm produce; fine hogs; sheep; goats and livestock and the carnival spirit of fun and frolic—these things you are invited to enjoy at Pearsall, October 8, 9, 10 and 11.

and a new view of things in general. one pound of bait is killing 27 rabbits. He is indeed a valuable man in any bits.

From 9,295 acres of pasture land improved last year by 810 farmers in demonstrations in which the seeding of new varieties of grasses and legumes played a large part, an average of $5 per acre more was made from this land than formerly, the demonstrators declared.

After cutting 10 tons of hay from five acres of third-year alfalfa up to July 1, J. G. Biffle of Myra, Cooke county, concludes that alfalfa pays on upland. Where Texas alfalfa growing will end, no one knows, for there are now successful demonstrations of this premier legume hay and pasture crop in every part of the State. Many county agents plan big increases in alfalfa growing demonstrations this fall.

On the other hand, sweet clover is holding its own in farmer favor, particularly of dairymen, some of whom, like Charles Jenkins of Martindale, Caldwell county, think it superior to Sudan as a pasture. On 15 acres of sweet clover and 40 acres of Sudan he has pastured 32 to 50 head of milk cows, 10 head of yearling stuff and four horses since December 3, with the sweet clover carrying the load. He plans to plant the entire pasture in clover this year.

Yet Sudan grass is unrivaled as a late spring, summer and fall pasture for both dairy cows and other stock, the same length of time. Average above 2,500 population is one of 180 days; that of the rural areas is 8.1 years compared with 6.9 in rural sections, explained. And, further, that ten per cent of the urban high school children attend schools for 160 days or less annually, while 10.9 per cent of the rural high school children, when children attend schools with terms of 180 days annually, only 12.7 percent of the rural children attend for the same length of time. Average attendance is much higher among children, he added.

Expenditures for rural education are much smaller by comparison and standards set by cities.

In commenting upon the needs of improving rural education, Mr. Gaumnitz continued, in part, as follows:

"That education bears a close relationship to the economic welfare of the farmer has long been accepted as a fact. Through special legislation millions of dollars have been appropriated by Congress for farm education.

Through the land-grant college agricultural extension, the Smith-Hughes work, and the boys and girls club activities, much money has been spent in improving the education of the rural dwellers and much good undoubtedly been achieved.

"This work, however, has been carried on largely with adults, and it has been strictly vocational in character.

Not enough attention has been paid to early school education. Early music sets and early habit formations have not been sufficiently safeguarded.

"Vocational education has often returned as a boomerang in the form of overproduction. Our education system being something of a hierarchy with elementary education prerequisite to secondary education and with high school graduation required for college entrance, we have in effect closed the doors of educational opportunity to the rural child.

"His elementary education has frequently been so meager that high school either did not attract him or else he found himself unprepared to do high school work successfully.

"Too frequently high school education has been entirely inaccessible to the rural child. With these handicaps is it any wonder that the education of the rural child has frequently been closed before he completed the grades, and that it seldom extends into the high school?

"A broad basic education is of fundamental importance if the farmer is to think thoroughly his economic problems and work out policies and procedures of intelligent marketing.

"Education can make the rural dweller more social minded. A wider educational experience can make him more able and ready to organize his forces, trust and work with his fellow farmers and co-operate in the planning, production and sale of his products. Education will help him to produce more and do this more efficiently but at the same time it will help him produce only such commodities as the market demands.

"Most important of all, a good fundamental education will enable the farmer to become more flexible as to his choice of the type of commodity he will produce and as to the place where he will market either his labor or the fruits of his labors.

"The farmer must be more mobile; his education must be such that he can shift easily from rural to urban production and compete on equal terms in either environment."

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD
Author of "The Cow Puncher," "The Homesteader," etc.

You do! He says that any man in his salt takes what he wants in this world. Am I worth my salt?" There are different standards of Goodness; how late it is . . . . You must go now, and don't come before, let us say, Wednesday."

CHAPTER XV

Whatever may have been Grant's sophistry about the unwisdom of getting a situation which had no way found himself looking forward to Wednesday evening, four or two at Zen's fireside program in the social atmosphere which his social life lacked, and as Transley had unprepared of his domestic leges remaining in town unless business brought him out to the home, it seemed only a just agreement that they should be by one who valued them at worth.

Wednesday evening conversation developed further the understanding that was gradually evolving between them, but it afforded no solution of the problem which confronted Zen made no secret of the she had made in the selection her husband, but had no suggestion to offer as to what should be about it. She seemed quite satisfied to enjoy Grant's conversation company, and let it go at that possible situation, as the young assured himself. She dismissed again at a quite respectable hour some reference to Saturday evening which Grant interpreted as an intention to call again at that time.

He entered Saturday night it evident that she had been expectant seated herself beside him Diane and the joy of her married Grant with a very happy occasion.

It looked into her eyes, now responsive, and found within depths something which sent him into a fit. "The mystery is too much for me. Surely must be an answer somewhere!"

The puzzle has a system to it—which may some day be found! It is the just chaos—just blind, senseless chaos?

Suppose we disobeyed the law, in those old days. We heard it enough, and we disobeyed. I myself to be guided by motives which were not the highest; you to lack the enterprise which have won you its own reward those who violate the law must suffer for it. I have suffered."

I thought about her?"

I was sick of the cringing of which my wealth made object; I loathed the deference because I knew it was paid, her voice. "I know something of what divided affection—if one can even say it is divided—means. Denay, I will make a confession. I knew you would come back; I always was sure you would come back. Then, I said to myself, 'I will see this man Grant as he is, and the reality will clear my brain of all this idealism which I have woven about him.' And so I have encouraged you to come here; I have been most unconventional, I know, but I was always that—I have cultivated your acquaintance, and Denay, I am so disappointed!"

"Disappointed? Then the mirage has cleared away!"

"On the contrary, it grows more distorted every day. I see you towering above all your fellow humans; reaching up into a heaven so far above them that they don't even know of its existence. I see you as really The Man-on-the-Hill. The idealism which I thought must fade away is just faded—heightened—by the reality."

She had turned her face to him, and Grant, little as he understood the ways of women, knew that she had made her great confession. For a moment he held himself in check . . . then from somewhere in his subconsciousness came ringing the phrase, "Every man worth his salt . . . takes what he wants." That was Transley's morality; Transley, the usurper, who had bullied himself into possession of this heart which he had never won and could never hold; Transley, the fool, frittering his days and nights with money! He seized her in his arms, crushing down her weak resistance; he drew her to him until, as in that sunny past, her lips met his and returned their caress. He cared now for nothing—notching in the whole world but this quivering womanhood within his arms.

"You must go," she whispered at length. "It is late, and Frank's habits are somewhat erratic."

He held her at arm's length, his hands upon her shoulders. "Do you suppose that fear—or anything—can make me surrender you now?"

"Not fear, perhaps—I know it could not be fear—but good sense may do it. It was not fear that made me send you home early from your previous calls. It was discretion."

"Oh!" he said, a new light dawning, and he marveled again at her consummate artistry.

"But I must tell you," she resumed. "Frank leaves on a business trip tomorrow night. He will be gone for some time, and I shall motor into town to see him off. I am wondering about Wilson," she hurried on, as though not daring to weigh her words; "Sarah will be away—I am letting her have a little holiday—and I can't take Wilson into town with me because it will be so late." Then, with a burst of confession, she spoke more deliberately. "That's isn't exactly the reason, Dennison; Frank doesn't know I have let Sarah go, and I—I can't explain."

Her face shone pink and warm in the glow of the firelight, and as the significance of her words sank in upon Grant marveled at that wizardry of the gods which could bring such homage to the foot of man. A tenderness such as he had never known suffused him; her very presence was holy.

"Bring the boy over and let him spend the night with me. We are great chums and we shall get along splendidly."

TEN TO FIFTEEN THOUSAND SHEEP TO BE FED HERE.

10,000 to 15,000 head of mutton will be fed out of Natalia this fall. Wardlaw and Company of Del Rio have made a contract with the San Antonio Suburban Irrigated Farms to feed out this stock from their mill at Natalia. Several thousand sheep have already been shipped into LaCoste and will be driven over land to Natalia where they will be placed in pens now under construction for this purpose. These people have also made a contract to purchase the 1,300 tons of hogat harvested off the company land below Devine, as well as 5,000 bushels of corn. These people also are in the market for 2,500 bushels of corn for shipment back to Del Rio to feed stock not brought here.

Witness my official hand and seal of office, at Hondo, Texas, on this, the 3rd day of September A. D. 1930.

SCHOOL NEWS.

Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock P. M. the Catholic School boys met the Juniors on the High School baseball diamond for a practice game. The teams were well matched and tied in the fifth inning, which was the number of innings agreed to be played. Joe J. Rieber ran in the winning score in the sixth inning. The final score was eight to seven in favor of the boys from the Public Schools. Mr. Scott umpired the game.

There are more pupils and teachers participating in athletics this week than any other week of school. Several new tennis rackets have made their appearance on the campus and some of the pupils are trying to get acquainted with them. Corine Rieber is trying to find out which end of the racket she should hold. Richard Saathoff does not understand why there should be so much love in such a simple game as tennis.

Edward Britz and Miss Carrie Langfeld seem to be the star players in volleyball this week.

Professor Scott is taking drawing from the 7th grade.

Corine Koch tried to make a landing or say a prayer last week and failed.

William Rohrbach after reading his history grew patriotic, borrowed a team and dragged off the tennis and volleyball courts. We wish he would read some more history.

What member of the class does the ninth grade look at when they go to write the characteristics of the Baltic type of people?

My eye lashes are extremely thin and light. Please remit a remedy.—Corine Koch. Apply ink into the roots with a toothpick.

Please tell me how I can make my mouth smaller.—Floyd Saathoff. It is probably over developed by too much usage. Avoid all unnecessary use of mouth, especially after the 5 minute bell rings.

Is it proper to play hands with a girl; and if so, where?—William Rohrbach. Certainly it is proper for a High School boy to play hands and the study hall is the most suitable place. I caution you to watch the fire escape for sight seers.

Please tell me how to get thin. I am so fat and fleshy that I can scarcely climb the stairs or dance.—Corine Rieber. Be sure that you sleep on your right side and upon a big feather bed, avoid all sweets. In this way you will lose five pounds a day

Lost—at D'Hanis, a carpenter's level. Finder please leave with ARNOLD FINGER and be rewarded.

Divine service in the English language will be held in Bethlehem Lutheran church Sunday night at 7:15 o'clock. Please note the change in time, and come with your English hymn books and friends and neighbors. All are cordially welcome.

Saturday night, October 4, a community social will be held on the lawn and in the parish hall of the Lutheran church. The doors will be opened at 6:30 and the program will begin at 7:30 P.M. Aside of the literary-musical program there will be a bazaar, a fishing pond and a stand with refreshments, including hamburgers and hot coffee. Donations for this social are solicited and will be received with appreciation by the committee. All are cordially invited to come and enjoy all the good things this social offers. In addition to the program and other things it offers all an excellent opportunity to meet friends and neighbors for a few hours for social intercourse.

The annual Mission feast of Bethlehem Lutheran congregation of Quihi and of St. Johns of New Fountain is scheduled to be held at Quihi October 19. The Rev. E. J. Braulick of the Texas Lutheran college at Seguin will be the speaker of the day.

YANCEY SCHOOL NEWS.

AIR CIRCUS.

At the close of the first month of school the enrollment in the Yancey Public Schools was 140 pupils, an excess of 14 over last year's enrollment at a similar time. Among the major improvements being made this year is the division of Mexicans and others into separate schools. The Yancey people are duly proud of their eleven grade affiliated high school which specializes in vocational work and they are giving all possible support to their corps of nine enthusiastic and well-trained teachers and to the seven wide awake trustees who are making every effort to give the children of the community advantages equal to the best.

STORES TO BE CLOSED FOR FOOTBALL GAMES.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Jennings and Boon was appointed by the Lions chairman to ask the merchants of Hondo to close their places of business from 3:00 to 5:00 on Friday, October 10, in order to make it possible for all to attend the football game between Hondo High and Uvalde High and of course, to "root" and yell for our Hondo boys. "Half of Uvalde" is coming to boost their bunch; let "all" of Hondo go out to cheer our boys on to victory. The game will be played at the fair grounds.

MISSIONARY ZONE MEETING.

The Missionary Zone meeting mentioned in last week's issue met at the Methodist Church Tuesday, September 30. There was a large attendance and an interesting and inspiring meeting was held. We hope to furnish a lengthy account of its work for the next issue of this paper.

The Southern Airways of San Antonio is sponsoring a flying circus here on October 4 and 5, one-half mile west of Hondo with the V. P. King farm as the landing field. The planes are government licensed and the pilots are veteran instructors. Together with this assurance of safety, the price for a pleasure ride in either a cabin or open plane is only $1.50. Besides a real pleasure flight there is for the onlookers the added attraction of parachute jumps by "Insideout" McLeod, who will demonstrate the famous "Insideout," "Bullet" Drop, Double jumps and other thrilling feats. There is no admission charged for these events.

JUNIOR CLASS PICNIC.

Saturday afternoon at four P. M. about eighteen Juniors and their sponsor, Mr. Glenn Fluker and Misses Boyd and Tweedy left for Castroville on a picnic.

Swimming and boat riding were enjoyed after which a picnic supper consisting of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, cakes and fruit was partaken of by all present.

Dancing was enjoyed until 8 P. M. when everyone returned home.

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

The president of the United States has just proclaimed the week beginning October 5 as National Fire Prevention Week.

The October number of Scout magazine of Scouting goes to some one hundred twenty Scoutmasters, Assistants and Troop Committeemen of our Area. It carries an article concerning the hazards. There is an illustration of a home with thirty or more fire hazards. In the article these are named. Mr. John A. Smylie, Health and Safety Chairman of the Area, suggests that every town in the Area plan a definite program for the week.

The National Organization recommends that every Scout in the United States be asked to make a survey of the fire conditions in his own home and give such assistance and suggestions by way of calling the attention of his parents and others interested to the hazards which he may have discovered, in order that they may be corrected.

This would mean nearly a million inspections and we feel is would be a very much worth while program for this week.
